EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

This Bill seeks to amend the Consumer Protection (Fair Trading) Act (Cap. 52A) to enhance consumer protection against unfair practices by suppliers by —

- (a) enabling the Standards, Productivity and Innovation Board (the Board) to bring an action in a court to apply for a declaration or an injunction, or both against any supplier who engages in unfair practices (an errant supplier);
- (b) enabling the Board to bring an action in a court to apply for an injunction against any person (an abettor) who abets, aids, permits or procures a supplier to engage in an unfair practice;
- (c) empowering the District Court or High Court to make certain accompanying orders when granting an application for a declaration or an injunction against an errant supplier or an abettor;
- (d) removing the requirement for applications for a declaration or an injunction against an errant supplier to be endorsed by an Injunction Proposals Review Panel;
- (e) conferring various investigation powers on the Board;
- (f) creating various offences for non-compliance in the course of investigations by the Board; and
- (g) expanding the list of specific unfair practices in the Second Schedule.

The Bill makes related amendments to the Standards, Productivity and Innovation Board Act (Cap. 303A) to confer on the Board new functions relating to, amongst other things, the administration and enforcement of the Consumer Protection (Fair Trading) Act and to confer on the Board additional powers to enable the Board to better fulfil its functions.

The Bill also makes an amendment to the Consumer Protection (Fair Trading) (Amendment) Act 2008 (Act 15 of 2008) to delete an amendment to the Consumer Protection (Fair Trading) Act that is obsolete and need not be brought into force.

Clause 1 relates to the short title and commencement.

Clause 2 amends section 2(1) —

- (a) to delete the definitions of “Chairman” and “Panel” as a consequence of the abolition of the Injunction Proposals Review Panel (see clause 5); and
- (b) to insert new definitions of “Board” and “chief executive”.

Clause 3 amends section 8(10) to reflect that the function of the “specified body” appointed by the Minister under that provision is now limited to the purposes of section 8 (that is, relating to invitations to enter, and the entering of, voluntary compliance agreements).

Clause 4 amends section 9 —

- (a) to provide that the Board (rather than the specified body) may apply to the court for a declaration that a practice engaged in or about to be engaged in by a supplier is an unfair practice, or an injunction restraining a supplier from engaging in an unfair practice, or both;
- (b) to provide for the accompanying orders that a court may make where such a declaration or injunction is made against a supplier, including —
 - (i) providing for notice of the details of a declaration or an injunction made in respect of the supplier to be published by the supplier during the specified period at such intervals as will secure prompt and adequate publicity;
 - (ii) providing for a supplier in respect of whom a declaration or an injunction is made to, during the specified period, inform a prospective consumer of that fact and obtain the consumer’s written acknowledgment of that notice;
 - (iii) providing for a supplier in respect of whom a declaration or an injunction is made to, during the specified period, include notice of that fact in invoices or receipts issued by the supplier;
 - (iv) providing for notice of certain changes in the supplier’s business, including a change in the way in which the supplier carries on business to be given by the supplier to the Board during the specified period;

- (v) providing for individuals who are suppliers or who are partners that are suppliers to inform the Board, during the specified period, of “notifiable events” (specified in the new Fifth Schedule inserted by clause 13). These “notifiable events” relate generally to when the individual becomes involved with a supplier (as proprietor, partner, director, employee, etc., of the supplier) or ceases to become so involved with the supplier; and
- (vi) providing for the Board to be reimbursed for costs incurred by the Board in publishing, or causing to be published, notices relating to the commencement of action relating to, or the granting of a declaration, an injunction or an interim injunction under the section;
- (c) to provide that the specified period within which the accompanying orders may have effect is the period specified by the court in the accompanying order but which must not exceed 5 years or such other period as the Minister may prescribe, in place of the 5 years;
- (d) to provide that if a supplier fails to comply with any of the accompanying orders mentioned in the amended subsection (4)(a) to (d), the Board may apply to the court to extend the specified period but the extended period must not exceed 10 years after the date on which the accompanying order was made or such other period as the Minister may prescribe, in place of the 10 years;
- (e) to provide that a consumer may cancel a contract with a supplier who has breached an accompanying order requiring the supplier in respect of whom a declaration or an injunction has been made to inform the consumer of that fact and to obtain the consumer’s written acknowledgment of that notice, within 6 months after entering into the contract;
- (f) to remove the precondition that an application to the court under the amended section 9(1) needs to be endorsed by the Injunction Proposals Review Panel; and
- (g) to make technical amendments to subsections (2)(b) and (3) to ensure consistency within the section as a whole.

Clause 5 repeals and re-enacts section 10 —

- (a) to abolish the Injunction Proposals Review Panel;
- (b) to provide that the Board may apply to the court for an injunction restraining a person from knowingly abetting, aiding, permitting or procuring a supplier to engage in an unfair practice;

- (c) to provide that the court may, pending the determination of the application, grant an interim injunction restraining the person from knowingly abetting, aiding, permitting or procuring the supplier to engage in an unfair practice;
- (d) to provide for the accompanying orders that a court may make where such an injunction is made against a person including —
 - (i) providing for notice of the particulars of the injunction to be published by the person at intervals as will secure prompt and adequate publicity;
 - (ii) providing the Board to be reimbursed for costs incurred by the Board in publishing, or causing to be published, notices relating to the commencement of action relating to, or the granting of an injunction or an interim injunction under the section; and
 - (iii) providing for individuals who are subject of the injunction to inform the Board, during the specified period, of “notifiable events” (specified in the new Fifth Schedule inserted by clause 13). These “notifiable events” relate generally to when the individual becomes involved with a supplier (as proprietor, partner, director, employee, etc., of the supplier) or ceases to become so involved with the supplier;
- (e) to provide that the specified period within which the accompanying orders may have effect is the period specified by the court in the accompanying order but which must not exceed 5 years or such other period as the Minister may prescribe, in place of the 5 years; and
- (f) to provide that if the individual fails to comply with the accompanying order mentioned in the new section 10(6)(c), the Board may apply to the court to extend the specified period but the extended period must not exceed 10 years after the date on which the accompanying order was made or such other period as the Minister may prescribe, in place of the 10 years.

Clause 6 amends section 12 —

- (a) to provide that the limitation period for an action which may be commenced under new section 10(1) (relating to an injunction against a person from knowingly abetting, aiding, permitting or procuring a supplier to engage in unfair practice) (inserted by clause 5) is 2 years after the date of occurrence of the last material event on which the action is based;
- (b) to make a consequential amendment to subsection (3)(b) to reflect that an action under the amended section 9(1) may be commenced by the Board (instead of the “specified body” appointed under section 8); and

(c) to make technical amendments for greater clarity.

Clause 7 makes a technical amendment to section 12B(3) for greater clarity.

Clause 8 inserts new Parts IIIA and IIIB.

- (b) that a person —

The new section 12I empowers an investigation officer and a person authorised by the Board to assist the investigation officer (authorised assistant) to, subject to certain conditions, enter and search any premises reasonably suspected of being used by the person under investigation in connection with an unfair practice, and to gather any goods, document and information that is relevant to the investigation.

The new section 12J provides that a court may, on the application of the Board, issue a warrant authorising an investigation officer and an authorised assistant to enter (using reasonable force as may be necessary) and search any premises reasonably suspected of being used by the person under investigation in connection with an unfair practice, and to gather any goods, document and information that is relevant to the investigation.

The new section 12K sets out the post-seizure procedure to be complied with by the investigation officer and authorised assistant in respect of any goods, document or information seized under the new section 12I or 12J.

Any statement given by the person must be reduced to writing and acknowledged by the person.

The new section 12N provides that a person who is required under the Act to disclose any information or document to the Board, an investigation officer or any authorised assistant is not excused from making the disclosure on the ground that the disclosure of the information or document might tend to incriminate the person. A statement made will not be admissible in evidence against the person in criminal proceedings other than those under Part IIIB, but will be admissible in evidence in civil proceedings, including proceedings under the Act. The new section further provides for legal professional privilege for professional legal advisers, except that a professional legal adviser is obliged to give the name and address of the person to whom or by or on behalf of whom the privileged communication was made.
